Project: "Dual-VET Partners in Europe"

The Erasmus+ KA2-Project called "Dual-VET Partners in Europe" results from the detection of a need to continue improving what has been recommended by the European Commission for years, the work-based learning.

The project was approved for funding through the Erasmus+ programme this past July as a Strategic Partnership in Vocational Training and Cooperation for Innovation and Good Practice, but originated already in 2016, when the strategic partners of this project, who have always had relations to the vocational training of European youth, recognized the need to identify and find ways to introduce components based on work-based training and the economic reality into the vocational training systems.

The project will have a duration of 24 months from September 2017. It's coordinated by Escuela de Idiomas Carlos V in Seville (Spain) and the consortium as well as the strategic partners are comprised by social organizations, companies, authorities and schools from Germany, Italy and Spain.

The main objectives of the project are:

- Transnational exchange of good practices between Italy, Germany and Spain, for the progressive introduction of dual vocational training element in the existing vocational training plans.
- Coordinate the exchange and collaboration between all agents of vocational training: companies, schools, syndicates, company federations and chambers of commerce
- Greater involvement of the companies in the vocational training
- Promotion of duality in the learning, relating learning at school with learning in the company
- Qualification of trainers in the companies and in the schools
- Identification of the possibilities to incorporate actions or modules into the vocational training plans in the three countries
- Design of a dual vocational training plan for the two chosen professions in accordance with the conclusions drawn from the analysis of the current vocational training systems and the exchange of impressions during the transnational meetings and activities
- Design of a framework to regulate, evaluate and test the practical training by means of ECVET-instruments for a greater transparency and international comparability of the vocational training
- Trip to Germany with Spanish and Italian teachers and companies to receive first-hand information about the German dual vocational training.
- Workshops led by German vocational training agents in Italy and Spain for teachers and in-company tutors interested in optimizing the vocational training in their organisations.
